

Global Network

Achieving Customers Satisfaction around the World

New Japan Radio Group has established business locations, sales subsidiaries, and sales agents inside and outside Japan, covering all semiconductor products, microwave tubes and radar components, and microwave application products. We have built a global network providing services and market research. This term, we have also established design centers for semiconductor products in Osaka and Singapore to build a sales system in close contact with customers. We will improve business performance with an eye towards cultivating existing product markets and expanding sales of new products.

New Japan Radio Co., Ltd. is developing bases for sales, development, design, and manufacturing across the globe to ensure customer "satisfaction" with our products.
